

INVITATION for a free WEB-SEMINAR
On Wednesday September 01, 19:00-19:45 (CET)
Weight loss in a dog: from diagnosis to treatment

Dear colleagues,

Today we would like to invite you to our next webseminar, with the title "Weight loss in a dog: from diagnosis to treatment"

Weight loss is a clinical sign frequently observed in companion animals, although associated with numerous pathologies. I hereby invite you to attend this web-seminar, where I have the pleasure of sharing an interesting clinical case with you of a dog presented with severe weight loss, as the main symptom. Together we will discover how urinalysis lead to the diagnosis, what the diagnosis was and how we treated this dog.

SPEAKER

Daniela Enache
DVM, M.Sc., MRCVS, Resident ECVIM-CA (Internal Medicine)

Daniela graduated from the Veterinary Medicine department at the University of Timisoara (Romania) in 2010. She completed an epidemiology Master at the same University in 2012. Daniela spent the next 4 years in small animal general practice. She then started a rotating internship program in small animal medicine and surgery at the Veterinary Institute of Novara (Italy). In 2018, she obtained the position of Senior Training Scholar (Resident) in Small Animal Internal Medicine at the Veterinary Institute of Novara (Italy). In her free time, Daniela enjoys the nature with her English Setter dog, Gloria.
